LATEST TELEGRAMS.

THE CHARTERED MERCANTILE BANK.

LONDON, October 19th.

The meeting called by the Directors of the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China, approved of the scheme put forward for reconstruction of the Bank; there were only three dissentients to the proposal. A small committee was appointed to confer with the Directors with regard to the new scheme and make their report to a special meeting later. The Chairman stated that the London management were in no way to blame in the matter of the recent frauds, and further said it was the intention of the Directors to bring new blood on the Board of Management. Several speakers censured the management abroad and demanded a much stricter control over the various branches of the Bank in the East.

A CALCUTTA paper announces the death, at Simla after a short illness, of Colonel Buller, Commandant of the Central India Horse. Colonel Buller was at the capture of Umbeyla in 1863, and accompanied Lord Roberts on the march to Kandahar in 1880.

THE Japan Daily Advertiser of Yokohama describes our ancient chum Annot Redd, of the Singapore Straits Times, as "a quality epigrammatic gentleman, with the happy knack of making the most of his opportunities." Our Yokohama correspondent is altogether mistaken in this estimate; friend Annot has a happy knack of making a consummate ass of himself on every available opportunity—and that is all.

It stands to reason, wittily remarks the Philadelphia Times, that ocean greyhounds are not ordinary bark.

H.M.S. Plutus returned to Singapore on the 21st inst., from the Amboyna Islands, where she had been to convey a mail for the Egria.

THE Chinese Customs cruiser Ping Chang, Capt. N. F. Andersen, is shortly expected here with Capt. A. M. Blabbe, the Coast Inspector of the Imperial Maritime Customs. Capt. Blabbe's mission in the South is in connection with the lighting of the Sunda Strait.

A CRICKET match took place yesterday afternoon at the Happy Valley, between the Regimental team of the Shropshire Light Infantry and the Royal Engineers. A very exciting game resulted in a tie, the scores being 91 each. The teams will meet again shortly.

In the Supreme Court this morning the suit of Messrs. Arnold, Karberg & Co. against Lai Lai Hing and others, being a counter-claim arising out of a transaction which was before the Court three weeks ago, was further adjourned pending the result of an appeal in the first case.

A JAPANESE torpedo boat of 750 tons displacement, the Chikuma, arrived at Singapore from France, en route to Yokohama via Hongkong, on the 18th inst. She was built at St. Nazaire by the Société des Chantiers de la Loire, is 70 metres long and only six metres in breadth, has engines of 5000 horse-power and can steam 12 knots an hour. In addition to four torpedoes she carries 12 Hotchkiss guns and a crew of 77 men. The Chikuma left Singapore for this port last Monday.

THE Sunday Bulletin:—"Dr. Paton, Presbyterian missionary, states, in London Times, that there are 40,000 cannibals in the South Sea Islands ready and pleading for the Gospel." "Likely," when you look at it all round, in very much the same way that there are 40,000 cannibals living in snow huts and praying for bananas fritters. The cannibal doesn't know that there is any gospel, and therefore he doesn't pray for it any more than the British labourer does for a wider knowledge of Confucius."

THE managers of the Chartered Mercantile Bank at Penang, Singapore, and no doubt at all the Indian branches—furnished the Press with details of the proposed Reconstruction Scheme approved of at the meeting of shareholders held in London on the 18th inst., the day after the proposal was adopted. The Hongkong manager of the Bank, it is only fair to assume, was not advised by his Directors of the result of the meeting, and Renter was of course, as usual, caught napping.

PEOPLE who speak of England's agreeing to institute a silver money standard, says the Sunday Sydney Times, talk of that they know nothing about. England's unique advantage amongst the whole of the nations of the world arises from her freedom from embarrasments on account of silver (of course, exclusive of the Indian Empire). Why, at the present price of silver the Bank of France stands to lose about £1,000,000 on its holdings of silver coin, and this would swallow up the capital and the whole of the reserves of over £9,000,000. This, no doubt, is the reason that that institution could refuse to accumulate gold, and has at the present time about £64,350,000 of that metal to its credit. As Great Britain alone amongst the great Powers is mono-metallic, and is thus unassailable by the value of silver, it would be suicidal for her to adopt a bi-metallic currency.

Judge Waxen's Proverbs from the Detroit Free Press:—

"When a man is running for office he can't run for much else."

"A man who starves in politics maybe, but that's time when his stomach and his backbone get mighty close together."

"That's a cheap site more in city politics than that is in country politics."

"A member of Congress is never too old to learn, but sometimes he ain't quite got sense enough."

"The American flag is the highest priced dyed goods in the world and the best."

"A candidate's a fool that'll mortgage his farm for campaign expenses."

"The man that prays right and pays his taxes without grumbling ain't far wrong."

"People won't don't a candidate's onesty till he begins to tell 'em how onest he is."

Statesmen makes politicians and politicians makes statesmen."

It is a great pity that the Amir of Afghanistan did not preside at the hearing of the Alacrity v. Fraser-Smith because the latter is a champion of the plaintiff's particular friend and special apologist Sir John Russell. The Amir, it appears, has a strong feeling against perjury, which on that occasion would have had ample room for practical demonstration. Recently a notorious robber was captured and brought to trial, but as no fewer than fifty of his relatives and friends came to Kabul to prove an alibi and obtain his release, assuring the Amir that the prisoner was innocent, it looked that he would escape punishment for his crime. But the Amir, like a modern Solomon, insisted on a case against the plaintiff's particular friend and special apologist Sir John Russell. The Liverpool Journal of Commerce in an article upon the stability of ships says: "We trust that the time is not far distant when water ballast will be the only system of ballasting in iron ships, and the costly old-fashioned rubbish ballast consigned to oblivion." At first glance, observes the N. Y. Maritime Register, many interested persons will not second this view, but it is a view that will eventually be established and carried out. Its advantages are obvious, and the cost would be much smaller than the expense, delay, and annoyances of stone or dirt ballast. In the before-mentioned article is also pointed out the necessity of ship-masters paying a greater knowledge regarding stability problems. This is a good suggestion. Ship-masters have not kept pace with the improvement in ship architecture, and while much ridicule has been cast upon the higher education scheme for officers of the merchant marine, it must be admitted by all thinking persons that this is also a necessity, if the ship is to become competent for his trust. This is a subject that has not yet attracted much attention in the United States, owing to the dull condition of our shipping. But it is one that must be considered here, if the progress that our shipping is expected to make in the near future is to be accomplished.

THE steamship Chowfa was towed over to the Cosmopolitan Dock this afternoon, and the Charter Towers and Wingiang will probably dock at Kowloon to-morrow.

H.M.S. Mercury is expected here from Singapore early in December to be paid off and recommissioned. She will probably be relieved in the Straits by the Pallas, at present in dock at Kowloon.

THE Penang Legislative Council Committee have reported adversely on Sir John Coode's scheme for improving Penang harbour, mainly owing to the immense cost, which they see no means of successfully financing. The Committee recommended the Colonial Engineer's idea broached in 1888, with considerable modifications. Sir John Coode contemplated an outlay of about two millions of dollars, but the alternative proposal only calls for an expenditure of $300,000.

MESSRS GYO FENWICK & Co., LD., launched at Kowloon yesterday evening a small steamer which has been built to the order of Messrs. Iddio de la Rama and Sons of Manila. The vessel has been named the Cosmopolita, and her principal dimensions are, length 135 feet, beam 24 feet, depth of hold 9 feet. She will be fitted with triple expansion engines constructed by Messrs. Fenwick & Co., with cylinders 13" 21" and 30" diameter and a stroke of 21". The Cosmopolita is intended for the Philippine coasting trade, and has been specially fitted to carry thirty first-class passengers.

SOME copper-fastened humours evidently got the weather-gauge of an ubiquitous Telegraph reporter yesterday, with the result that one of the oldest and best known residents in this part of the Far East was described as "Mr. Heron from Hollow," and that gentleman's little son, who the previous night had been the victim of a most deplorable accident, caused by gross neglect for which the Government would certainly appear to be responsible, was magnificently in "three children." Mr. Heron will accept our excuse for a blunder that was all but inexcusable. We are pleased to learn that the injured boy, who is under Dr. Cowie's care, is making satisfactory progress.

AN attempt is being made to form a Town Band for Kowloon under the leadership of Mr. Rizzetti, who was for some time conductor of the Yokohama City Band. Hongkong can oblige Kowloon with a few of its surplus geniuses in the musical line. We are unable to spare the Hon. John McLeane and his bagpipes; but Copper Lock, who is champion at blowing his own horn, Miniharet, who plays the first with exceptional ability and success; Van Eps, who is a musical horseman (the quadruped belongs to the local Funeral Club) of unrivalled check; and the Mac Hooligan O'Driscoll and the MacSpelman Swooper, who are great artists on the drum, ought to form the nucleus of a Brass Band that would astonish not only the good people of Kowloon, but all the globe-trotters of the universe.

MR. JOHN BAXTER, a very old and highly esteemed resident of Singapore, who was many years Surveyor at that port for Lloyd's Agents and Veritas, died at his residence, Mount Echo Road, on the 19th inst. According to the Straits Times, Mr. Baxter first came out to Singapore from Port Glasgow, of which place he was a native, in the forties. He afterwards went to Bangkok where, under the auspices and assistance of the late King of Siam, he established himself as a shipbuilder, and while there he commanded quite a number of large and very handsome clipper sailing vessels of which Siam for many a year was justly proud. In the fifties he returned to Singapore and settled down, being at one time in partnership in a shipwright's business with Mr. Tivendale. Not long after this he established himself as a Surveyor, and retired only about four years ago. Mr. Baxter was 75 years of age and he leaves a wife and a daughter (who is married in Scotland) to grieve over his death.

THUS the Newchwang correspondent of the N. C. Daily News:—"Angels' visits are few and far between. This may be said of H.M.S. Alacrity, which came only yesterday and left again this morning. ALLAHABAD, September 29th.
Rumours have reached India that the Amir's troops have gained a marked success against the Hazaras.

The column detailed to occupy the Kurram Valley leaves Kohat on October 7th under the command of Colonel Turner.

Colonel Simons, of the Yorkshire Regiment, who got a Maxim gun for his regiment, has offered to send the gun with the detachment.

Merchants trading between Kabul and Peshawar have been thrown into consternation at the arrangement recently to have been lately made between the Amir and three traders, by which they will have the monopoly of the trade on payment to the Amir of sixty thousand rupees.

CONSTANTINOPLE, September 30th.

The reply of the Porte to the Russian Note protesting against the recent cordial reception by the Sultan of Turkey of Mr. Stenbockoff, the Bulgarian Premier, affords respect for the Treaty of Berlin, which it has no intention of violating, or of wounding the feelings of Russia.

SIMLA, October 2nd.
The President of the Indian Currency Association has been informed by his Excellency the Viceroy that he has received a telegraphic despatch from the Secretary of State in reply to a telegram on the currency question which his Excellency sent home last week. The despatch states that a committee of which Lord Herschell will be the president will be appointed to advise whether it is expedient that any steps should be taken to modify the Indian Currency Act.

LATE TELEGRAMS.

ALLAHABAD, October 8th.
The Amir's success in subduing the Hazaras is now placed beyond all question, news from Kandahar fully confirming the Kabul reports. In a despatch from Sir D. M. Macdonald, General Subban Khan, His Highness received the first intelligence of the capture of Orghangan. The officer who carried the despatch and his detachment were handsomely rewarded. The Amir announced the end of the rebellion in open durbar and for days afterwards sent to receive the congratulations of his Sardars and officials.

The Amir was to leave Peshawar for Kabul on the 7th instant. It is quite believed now he will meet Lord Roberts at Allahabad as his various orders to such an intention. The date of the Conference is conjectured merely. His Highness's son, Sahibzad Khan who has been ordered to proceed to Peshawar to settle the disturbed district, may possibly spend the winter in Kandahar.

He is taking with him killots to present to the Afghan officers who have distinguished themselves in the recent events.

LONDON, October 8th.
The latest advices from the West Coast of Africa state that a French force aided by six thousand friendly natives has routed the Dahomeyans, who were commanded by King in person. The fighting was of the fiercest nature. The French lost upwards of forty killed and wounded, and the Dahomeyans lost some hundreds, among them being many Amazons. The Dahomeyans were armed with Krupp guns.

The Englishman, writing regarding the Chartered Mercantile Bank, states that depositors will be paid in full and there is no need for anxiety on the score of the Bank's solvency as far as this portion of its indebtedness goes. The shareholders, however, will suffer to an extent which may be roughly estimated at the difference between the paid-up capital of £750,000 and the present available assets of 75 lakhs of depreciated rupees, which will be further lessened by a deduction of about six months' working expenses.

The Bank's losses have been chiefly incurred on advances in Ceylon and the Straits. No serious losses in exchange business have been made since 1866, the year the general collapse followed the American Civil War, but the Bank omitted to provide against the depreciation of the sterling capital, as has been systematically done by other Indian Banks.

THE LOSS OF THE "DORA."

News was received here yesterday, says the Planning Gazette of October 17th, of the total loss of the steamer Dora, belonging to the Messrs. Cheong Tek Seng and Cheong Eu Khey. This sad intelligence was brought yesterday afternoon by one of the ship's boats which arrived at Batu Maui with the Captain, who is a native, the chief steward, clerk, and some others of the crew and passengers, numbering 15 in all.

The Dora left here on Friday afternoon last with a general cargo for Assam, and had on board a crew of 20 all told, including the master, and 10 passengers. It appeared that soon after leaving Penang she encountered very rough weather and shipped heavy seas continually, so she gradually filled up, until at length her fires went out and she was completely at the mercy of the winds and sea. Ultimately she foundered at 4 o'clock on Saturday morning, but before she went down all hands had taken to the boats, of which there were two, and one of these arrived yesterday as already stated. There was not a European on board, but a Eurasian, who was chief engineer, and he is amongst those who are missing.

This morning the steamer Neposita, belonging to the same owners, left here to go in search of the missing boat, and the result is being anxiously looked forward to. We may add that the Dora was an old wooden vessel, built in Singapore some 27 years ago and of 48 tons burden. She was bought for $7,500 about two months ago and was partly covered by insurance.

The Gazette of the 18th inst. adds:—The steamer Neposita, which left here yesterday morning in search of the remainder of the crew and passengers of the ill-fated steamer Dora, returned late in the afternoon with the missing men, 15 in number, including Mr. De Cruz, the chief engineer. These men confirm the report of the foundering of the Dora, owing to very rough weather and heavy seas on Saturday morning last. It is alleged that the native captain and those who arrived with him on Sunday, were the first clear away from the ship in one of the boats. When those left behind afterwards took to the only other remaining boat, they found it had no rudder and only one oar. Almost as soon as they pushed away from the ship's side the vessel sank, and they were left to do the best they could under the circumstances. The boat, it seems, was fearfully tossed about for some hours, and the men in her had several narrow escapes from being drowned. As luck would have it, the sea at length became calm, and the boat continued to drift, the men trusting themselves to the chance of falling in with a passing ship. It was not until the following morning, after enduring great privations, that they were rescued by a Chinese junk bound from Penang to Deli. The Chinese skipper decided at once to put back to this port, and while on the way the Neposita was sighted and signalled at about fifteen miles south-west of Pulau Rima, and by her the rescued men returned to Penang. We understand that a Court of Enquiry will be held in a few days.

THE REVOLT IN HUNAN AND KIANGSI.

The Kiuksiang correspondent of our Shanghai morning contemporary writes under date Oct. 15th:—

The revolt on the borders of Kiangsi and Hunan seems to be the theme of conversation here just now. I have gathered such facts as are to be got at present; how reliable or otherwise they may be I am, however, not able to say. It appears that, at a place 450 li from here, a large mass of people in connection with the Kolao Hut have risen in arms against the Government. At Ping-siang Hsien in the Yenchow prefecture some thousands of people are said to be in the mountains. They have made, so it is reported, a descent on the city and captured the magistrate of the place, whom they have carried off prisoner. Whether they have killed him is not known. The soldiers sent against them have been defeated in one encounter, and two thousand more have been despatched to the scene of the disturbance. No account of an engagement has yet come to hand. Three hundred soldiers have gone from here to replace the same number who were sent up from Hukow to the front. It is said that no attempts are made on the part of the rebels to oppress the people, but only to get hold of or kill the officials. It is also said that a number of Kolao Hut leaders have gone from this city, and that the rebels are well armed with rifles and even cannon. Very strict precautions are being taken in this city, and the air is full of rumours.

FUNERALS.

CHRISTIAN AND CHINESE.

A few years ago the laird of Huntingtower, Mr. Quong Tart, attended a Caledonian gathering in Sydney, and after dancing the Highland Schottische, strathspeys and the Reel of "Tulligumrun," as well as singing "Scots Wae Hae!" and "The Dell and Fiddling through the Toon," he proceeded to make a speech. Unlike a certain eminent man of our acquaintance, he did not begin with a reference to William Charles Wentworth, or Daniel Henry Denney, or the departed glories of Greece and Rome. No, Mr. Tart confined himself to the living present, and in a few well-chosen remarks, reminded his hearers that there was much in common between the Chinese and the Scotch. Both were industrious, canny, and thrifty; and, for possessing such praise-worthy qualities, both had incurred the jealousy, and even the enmity, of their neighbors—in fact, a Chow was a Scot. The Scotchmen present were delighted, and cheered loudly. A pool that the national sense of humor had changed but little since Sydney Smith's day.

If the Chinese are like the Scotch in life, they in some respects resemble the Irish in death—both are versed in the art of getting up a funeral. It is now acknowledged that the Fenian movement first obtained strength from the impetus given by the ceremonies attending the removal of M'Manus's remains to Dublin. In English-speaking countries, as a rule, only prominent public men receive a public funeral. Ordinary citizens are boxed up by the undertaker in a coffin of pine, and as in the case of Jonas Chuslewski, measure sympathy by a. s. d. In Ireland, the ordinary citizen is accorded a funeral, more or less public, according to his private merits. On the stage and off, the Irish wake has been sheered at, but that much abused institution has its recommendations. For instance, we have lately heard financiers, supposed to be buried—in fact we have heard of their deaths, and read the usual paeanyric monies ago—who are said to be alive and well. Now, had the same genial property "waked" could such a transformation and resurrection be possible? Certainly not. The insurance companies, to their own interests, had better insist on a wake before paying over a policy.

Of course, it would be only boring our readers to enter into a lengthy description of the funeral of the late Mr. Way Kay, which took place the other day. The dry-as-dust details have already been given by the other papers, especially the Herald.

On reaching the deceased's residence, we were much struck by the reverential emotions of the chief mourners. Their sympathy was not of the Jones Chuslewski type; their grief was decidedly genuine. The burial service was being read by the Rev. Young (boy)—seemingly a member of the Anglican Church—a circumstance which strangely harmonised with the joy afterwards borne in the procession. As the body was being removed there was a great crush, and the smoothness with which the intricate arrangements were carried out reflects the greatest credit on that born undertaker, Mr. Quong Tart. Ninny Melville would take lessons from the Tart.

Mr. Tart knows a thing or two, as was shown by the way in which he met the bluff of an alleged journalist, who, without credentials of any kind, wanted carriage accommodation. It is astonishing to find so many people present at such functions on the ground that "they are connected with the Press." A press work they probably could not earn postage, and probably would exhibit only gross ignorance in writing a paragraph. The audience is almost as bad as that once caused by the respectable females who, when Lord Grey, described themselves as actresses.—Sydney Sunday Times.

CHEFOO.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

October 13th, 1892.

I have just heard from Port Arthur that the whole of the Chinese fleet, except one vessel, has been docked most successfully, all the work being done by their own men, and without any foreign supervision.

An old custom exists there, which, notwithstanding my long stay in the north of China, I never heard of before, and which may interest your readers. A Tartar official has just arrived, to find a new site for the Imperial hunting ground. The Liaotung promontory has to send to the Emperor as tribute a certain number of falcons' tail-feathers, to be made into fans for the Imperial household. In case these feathers should be short in number, they have to be replaced by money. In the hunting season no-one is allowed inside of these grounds except the hunters, under penalty of death. The Liaotung light-house, now building, is near one of these grounds, and the people are afraid that the light will drive the birds away, and as they cannot charge the site of the light, they are going to change the hunting ground.

Our future Taoist, Li Tai-jen, is preparing to come over in the Spring. We may hope for a change for the better in the sanitary conditions of the Chinese city if all that is said of the wonderful improvements he has made elsewhere is true.—N. G. Daily News.

There are no inside rooms, thus securing well lighted, ventilated and cheerful accommodations. The Cuisine cannot be surpassed, and the aim of the management is to provide for the
